

KITTEN SEASON IS APPROACHING AND FOSTERS ARE NEEDED

Garfield's Rescue

It's almost that time of year when kittens start popping up all over the place. Unfortunately, kittens require more time and people resources than we currently have available. It is for this reason that we need kindhearted people to step up and provide foster care for momma cats with nursing kittens; orphaned newborns (bottle feeders) and young kittens who are eating on their own. Foster homes are needed for only 2 weeks to 2 months, depending on the situation. All approved cat fosters will receive an amazing kitten starter kit including food and litter. There are no financial costs to be incurred by fosters. Medical care and supplies are all provided. You provide the love and a safe home. And it's ok if you don't have experience fostering kittens! We'll teach you everything you need to know and connect you with experienced people that have been fostering kittens for years.

universities more representative and more welcoming to first-generation students, disabled students, and returning military veterans, not just advocating for people who identify as brown and queer.

Yoleidy Rosario-Hernandez, who headed the Office of Outreach and Inclusive Excellence at New College of Florida, granted an interview to The Washington Post after getting fired from her $135,000-a-year job by the newly constituted board of trustees. Rosario-Hernandez, who identifies as BIPOC and transgender and uses ze/zir pronouns, described the conservative critique of DEI mandates as coming from a position of "white supremacy."

Rosario-Hernandez categorically rejected the conservative accusation that DEI divides people into two groups—the "oppressors" and the "oppressed."

Instead, DEI promotes reconciliation between two groups—"people who are harmed" and "people who have harmed them."
